Upon motion of counsel for accused Aldanese and Galido, the cases were set for the continuation of preliminary conference on 2 August 2019 while they deliberate on the possibility of applying for plea bargain.⁹ However, due to work suspension in Metro Manila courts on 2 August 2019, hearing was reset to 12 September 2019.¹⁰

During the continuation of the preliminary conference on 13 September 2019, prosecutor Joshua Tan manifested that the Ombudsman already approved the application to plea bargain filed by accused Aldanese and Galido. Hence, the Court granted the prosecution's motion to set the hearing for the approved plea bargain agreement and re-arraignment of accused Aldanese and Galido on 18 October 2019 at 8:30 in the morning.¹¹

On 18 October 2019, a hearing was held to determine the proposed plea bargain. In open court, the prosecution manifested that it is willing to accept the plea bargain offer of accused Aldanese and Galido. It manifested that the Office of the Special Prosecutor had secured authority from the Ombudsman to consent to the guilty plea offer of accused to a lesser offense of committing of Sec. 7 (a) of R.A. No. 6713.

The Court separately inquired from each of the said accused whether she has voluntarily offered to plea to a lesser offense and whether she understood the consequences of her plea. With the assistance of their respective counsels on record, accused individually manifested to the court that she has voluntarily offered to plead guilty to a lesser offense and that, with the help of her counsel, she fully understood the consequences of such plea.

RULING BY THE COURT

After evaluating the facts of the case and the manifestations by the parties to the case, the Court hereby allows the parties to enter into plea bargaining wherein each of the accused, with the consent of the Ombudsman, through the prosecution, is allowed to plead guilty to a lesser offense of Section 7 (a) of R.A. No. 6713.

In Estipona, Jr. y Asuela v. Lobrigo,¹² the Court explained the nature of plea bargaining:

In this jurisdiction, plea bargaining has been defined as "a process whereby the accused and the prosecution work out a mutually satisfactory disposition of the case subject to court approval." There is give-and-take negotiation common in plea bargaining. The essence of the agreement is that both the prosecution and the defense make concessions to avoid potential losses. Properly administered, plea bargaining is to be encouraged because the chief virtues of the system — speed, economy, and finality — can benefit the accused, the offended party, the prosecution, and the court.

Considering the presence of mutuality of advantage, the rules on plea bargaining neither create a right nor take away a vested right. Instead, it operates as a means to implement an existing right by regulating the judicial process for enforcing rights and duties recognized by substantive law and for justly administering remedy and redress for a disregard or infraction of them.

The decision to plead guilty is often heavily influenced by the defendant's appraisal of the prosecution's case against him and by the apparent likelihood of securing leniency should a guilty plea be offered and accepted. In any case, whether it be to the offense charged or to a lesser crime, a guilty plea is a "serious and sobering occasion" inasmuch as it constitutes a waiver of the fundamental rights to be presumed innocent until the contrary is proved, to be heard by himself and counsel, to meet the witnesses face to face, to bail (except those charged with offenses punishable by reclusion perpetua when evidence of guilt is strong), to be convicted by proof beyond reasonable doubt, and not to be compelled to be a witness against himself.

Yet a defendant has no constitutional right to plea bargain. No basic rights are infringed by trying him rather than accepting a plea of guilty; the prosecutor need not do so if he prefers to go to trial. Under the present Rules, the acceptance of an offer to plead guilty is not a demandable right but depends on the consent of the offended party and the prosecutor, which is a condition precedent to a valid plea of guilty to a lesser offense that is necessarily included in the offense charged. The reason for this is that the prosecutor has full control of the prosecution of criminal actions; his duty is to always prosecute the proper offense, not any lesser or graver one, based on what the evidence on hand can sustain.

The plea is further addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court, which may allow the accused to plead guilty to a lesser offense which is necessarily included in the offense charged. The word may denotes an exercise of discretion upon the trial court on whether to allow the accused to make such plea. xxx

Plea bargaining is allowed during the arraignment, the pre-trial, or even up to the point when the prosecution already rested its case. xxx (Footnotes omitted.)

In Daan v. Sandiganbayan,¹³ the Court expounded on the legal basis of plea bargaining and when it could be seasonably made by the parties, thus:

Plea bargaining is authorized under Section 2, Rule 116 of the Revised Rules of Criminal Procedure, to wit:

¹³ 573 Phil. 368-383 (2008).

SEC. 2. Plea of guilty to a lesser offense. — At arraignment, the accused, with the consent of the offended party and the prosecutor, may be allowed by the trial court to plead guilty to a lesser offense which is necessarily included in the offense charged. After arraignment but before trial, the accused may still be allowed to plead guilty to said lesser offense after withdrawing his plea of not guilty. No amendment of the complaint or information is necessary. (sec. 4, cir. 38-98)

Ordinarily, plea bargaining is made during the pre-trial stage of the proceedings. Sections 1 and 2, Rule 118 of the Rules of Court, require plea bargaining to be considered by the trial court at the pre-trial conference, viz.:

SEC. 1. Pre-trial; mandatory in criminal cases. — In all criminal cases cognizable by the Sandiganbayan, Regional Trial Court, Metropolitan Trial Court, Municipal Trial Court in Cities, Municipal Trial Court and Municipal Circuit Trial Court, the court shall, after arraignment and within thirty (30) days from the date the court acquires jurisdiction over the person of the accused, unless a shorter period is provided for in special laws or circulars of the Supreme Court, order a pre-trial conference to consider the following:

- (a) plea bargaining;
- (b) stipulation of facts;
- (c) marking for identification of evidence of the parties;
- (d) waiver of objections to admissibility of evidence;
- (e) modification of the order of trial if the accused admits the charge but interposes a lawful defense; and
- (f) such matters as will promote a fair and expeditious trial of the criminal and civil aspects of the case.

SEC. 2. Pre-trial agreement. — All agreements or admissions made or entered during the pre-trial conference shall be reduced in writing and signed by the accused and counsel, otherwise, they cannot be used against the accused. The agreements covering the matters referred to in section 1 of this Rule shall be approved by the court. (Emphasis supplied)

But it may also be made during the trial proper and even after the prosecution has finished presenting its evidence and rested its case. Thus, the Court has held that it is immaterial that plea bargaining was not made during the pre-trial stage or that it was made only after the prosecution already presented several witnesses.

Under Section 1 of Rule 118, the parties are authorized to enter into plea bargaining after arraignment.

During their respective arraignments, accused Aldanese and Galido entered a plea of not guilty to the charges of violation of Section 3 (e) of R.A. No. 3019. Considering that they have each entered into a plea bargaining agreement with the prosecution, they all move for the withdrawal of such pleas and, in lieu thereof, enter a guilty plea under Section 7 (a) of R.A. No. 6713 for the cases against them.

The prosecution manifested to the Court that they are not opposing the accused's change of plea. In fact, Prosecutor Joshua A. Tan informed the Court that the Honorable Ombudsman Samuel R. Martirez have authorized them to enter into a plea bargaining agreement with the accused. The Court deems the prosecution's manifestation as sufficient to allow the withdrawal of accused's former plea and to permit him to enter a plea of guilty to a lesser offense.

Pursuant to Section 2 of Rule 116¹⁴ of the Revised Rules on Criminal Procedure, no amendment of the Information is necessary when withdrawing a plea of not guilty and pleading guilty to a lesser offense.

Thus, the motion of accused Aldanese and Galido to withdraw their earlier plea of not guilty is GRANTED.

Upon re-arraignment on the Informations for the lesser offense of Section 7 (a) of RA. 6713 – Prohibited Acts and Transactions, accused Aldanese and Galido entered a plea of guilty. They were assisted by their counsel de parte, Attys. Arnold H. Labay and Jeremy P. Madamba of A.H. Labay Law Firm for accused Aldanese and Atty. Melinda Diaz-Salcedo for accused Galido.

Accordingly, let the plea of guilty be re-entered into the records of the accused Aldanese and Galido for the charges against them.

Violation of Section 7 (a) of RA 6713 is penalized as follows:

SECTION 11. Penalties. — (a) Any public official or employee, regardless of whether or not he holds office or employment in a casual, temporary, holdover, permanent or regular capacity, committing any violation of this Act shall be punished with a fine not exceeding the equivalent of six (6) months' salary or suspension not exceeding one (1) year, or removal depending on the gravity of the offense after due notice and hearing by the appropriate body or agency. If the violation is punishable by a heavier penalty under another law, he shall be prosecuted under the latter statute. Violations of Sections 7, 8 or 9 of this Act shall be punishable with imprisonment not exceeding five (5) years, or a fine not exceeding five thousand pesos (P5,000), or both, and, in the discretion of the court of competent jurisdiction, disqualification to hold public office.

¹⁴ Sec. 2. Plea of guilty to a lesser offense. – At arraignment, the accused, with the consent of the offended party and prosecutor, may be allowed by the trial court to plead guilty to a lesser offense which is necessarily included in the offense charged. After arraignment but before trial, the accused may still be allowed to plead guilty to said lesser offense after withdrawing his plea of not guilty. No amendment of the complaint or information is necessary.
